Tips for Coloring Hair Extensions

Donna Bella employs an unusual method to extract the original color from the hair before being treated and created into hair extensions. Donna Bella trained technicians protect the hair using a passive, time sensitive process to avoid damage from harsh chemicals.

Our hair is clinically washed and dried in humid warming tunnels to prepare the hair for the next step. Donna Bella then colors the hair to 37 different shades. And finally, in the most important step, we revitalize each strand through a process known as MoisturGap infusion, where natural conditioners and moisturizers are restored to each strand of hair.

As mentioned, our hair comes in a variety of 37 colors, ranging from jet black to platinum to funky-colored hair to help you create the hair you want, whether it’s to match your hair, add highlights or lowlights to it, or add vibrant color.

In some instances, when you can’t match the color you want exactly, you may need to color the hair you purchased. Since Donna Bella Hair is made from 100% human remy hair and has gone through extensive treatment processes to maintain the integrity of the hair, you can color the extensions as you would your own hair. However, there are certain precautions to take when coloring hair extensions. Here are a few of our recommendations:

- Deposit color to the hair; do not strip it of color. This is particularly important to note because the process involved in lightening hair can damage the hair extensions permanently.

- Never go more than two levels when depositing the color

- Color the hair extensions before installing them

- Test the desired color on a strand of hair to see the results before coloring your whole batch of hair extensions.

As long as you follow these general precautions and others that may come from your particular brand of color, you will be able to achieve optimal results when coloring your Donna Bella hair extensions.
